SECURITY MANAGEMENT

Armed Robbery is Now Worse Than Ever Simple Precautions Reduce Your Risk

Robbery rates are on the rise all over the US. In order to protect your company and your employees from robbery you need to implement some simple preventative measures.

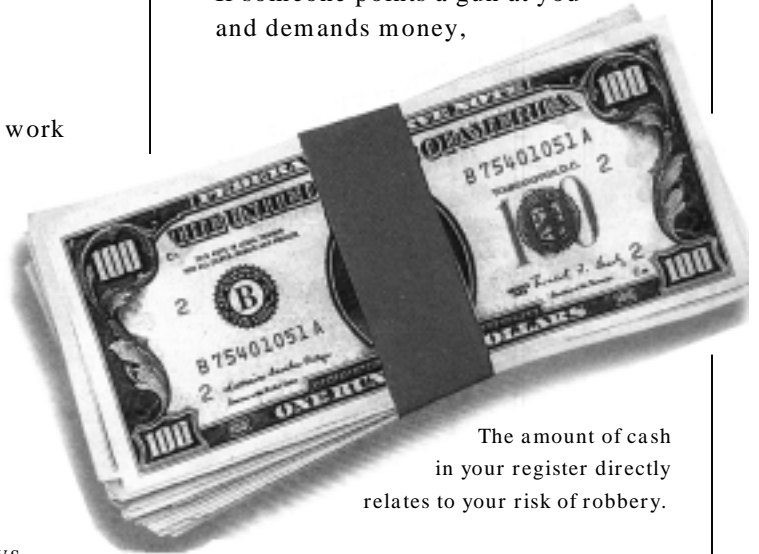

Preventative Measures

- Secure all unused doors.
- Avoid allowing employees to work alone, especially at closing.
- Vary the schedule and route for your daily bank deposits.
- Keep minimum amounts of cash in the register transferring excess cash to a small depository safe.
- Position the cash register so it is clearly visible to people who pass by on the street.
- Avoid placing signs or displays which block visibility from the street into your store.
- Record the serial number of the last bill in each bin of the register tray. Instruct employees not to use these bills for change.
- Display signs indicating that safes require secondary keys or combinations and that these are not accessible to employees
- Advertise the existence of a security alarm and camera system.

What To Do If You Are Robbed

If you are robbed here are a few tips which could help you survive and help the police in their investigation:

- If someone points a gun at you and demands money,

The amount of cash in your register directly relates to your risk of robbery.

give it to them.

- Activate your silent alarm. If you cannot reach it unnoticed, wait until the robber leaves.
- Note the criminal's height, weight, hair color, scars, tattoos, accent, clothing, weapons and vehicle.
- Keep away from surfaces that may have been touched by the robber.
- Call the police immediately.
